Long long ago, there was a colorful bird living in the forest. She had two sisters.

One night, the queen (王后) of a country had a dream—a colorful bird flew after her. The next morning, she asked the king to hunt (猎杀) the colorful bird so that she could make a colorful hat. The king sent all of the hunters in his country to look for the colorful bird. One hunter found the colorful bird. When the hunter saw her, she was drinking water by the river.

When the bird saw the hunter, she tried to fly away. Unluckily, the hunter caught her with a net. She shouted to other birds at once so that they could fly away. Every bird flew away, but her two sisters didn't.

The hunter saw the colorful bird's sisters. He asked them, "Why didn't you fly away?" They answered, "The colorful bird is our sister. We love each other."

The two birds' love for their sister touched the hunter's heart, so he let the colorful bird fly. After the king and the queen learned about the three birds' story, they decided not to kill the colorful bird.

C. In the travel column of a magazine. D. In the sports column of a magazine.

Of all the things we eat and drink, water is the most important. We can live without food for some days, but if we don't have water for three or four days, we may die. Do you know water well? Let me tell you.

The Blue Planet is another name of the earth. That's because about three-fourths of the earth is covered by water. People think we are not short of water. In fact, they are wrong. Most of the water is salt water. Only about 3% is fresh water that we can drink.

You might think that most of the fresh water on the earth is in the lakes and rivers. In fact, less than 1% of the fresh water can be found in these places. Around 70% of the earth's fresh water is ice in the polar(极地的) places. They are far from us. And the water there is tough to carry.

The second most fresh water on the earth is groundwater. Some places don't have fresh water from rivers and lakes, so the people there use groundwater for drinking and other uses. But because people use chemicals(化学制品) in farming and factories, some groundwater is polluted.

The earth has little usable water. Luckily, each of us can do something to save water. People are saving water wisely in their own cities. If we work together, we will have a better world.
